

This week:

- GPRS Connection part of the project is implemented
- Socket Connection (for GPRS) is tested on the simulator and on several models of cell phones
- Options menu button is added to the GUI (not implemented the submenu yet)

Notes:

- Test results show that although the socket connection implementation works on the simulator, actual cell phones, used for testing purposes, were not able to establish the connection.