This week:

- GPRS Connection part is completed

- User interface implementation continued.

- Splash screen is added to the mobile application.

- Exit button is added to the mobile application.

- Continuous data transfer between mobile application and database is obtained.

- Ability to increment & decrement the frequency of data transfer is added to the application